A black and white aerial photograph showing a biplane flying over a body of water. The biplane is positioned in the upper left quadrant of the frame, viewed from above. It has a high-wing configuration, a single engine on the upper wing, and a tail section with a vertical stabilizer. The number '433' is visible on the side of the fuselage. Below the biplane, the water's surface is textured with ripples and a wake. In the lower right quadrant, a ship is visible, moving through the water and leaving a prominent white wake. The ship appears to be a small vessel, possibly a tugboat or a small cargo ship, with a dark hull and a light-colored superstructure. The overall image has a grainy, historical quality.
